DOCUMENTATION

Book Track Deliver (BTD) is designed for freight forwarders by an active freight forwarding team with years of experience in the industry. A forwarder starting out in the industry needs a software like BTD along with an established forwarder who also needs BTD. BTD is owned and developed by Master Digital Services Ltd UK.

BTD is basically a backend business management software for freight forwarders and their sub agents where freight forwarders are able to create accounts for their customers (also known as business accounts), maintain customer business profiles and databases, create invoices from already developed database of market rate prices of freight or create a custom invoice altogether with their own prices (custom invoice is popular with freight agents).

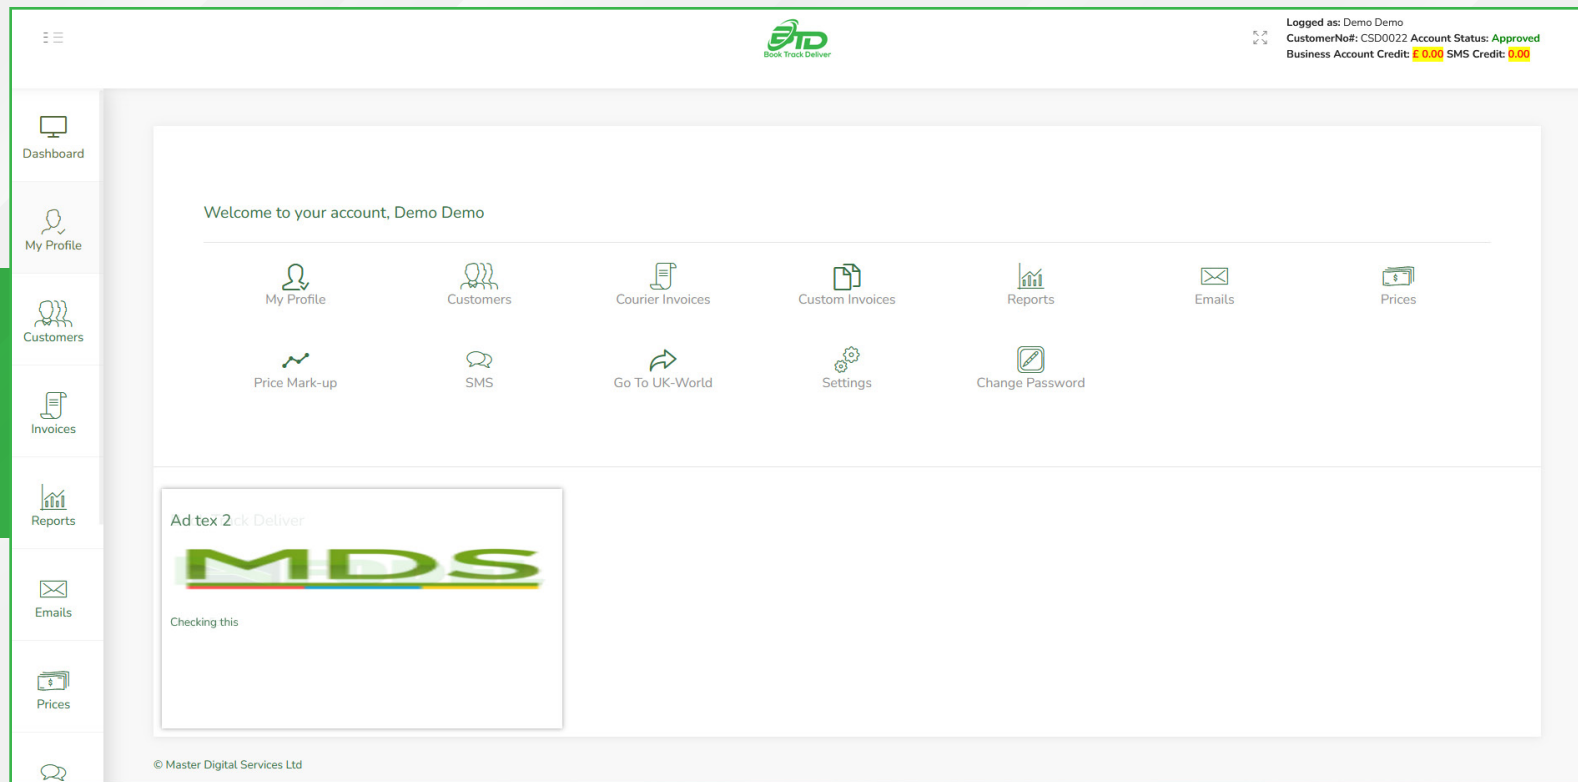

BTD helps growing businesses maintain a sophisticated image and frankly professional outlook from the outset takes business to a whole new level very quickly. Match your freight operations with a good customer management system and the sky is the limit. BTD is packed full of basic features needed to set a freight agent on the road. Any type of business can use BTD and even those not in the freight forwarding sector. BTD software gives a freight agent a complete picture of what their mark-up profit is and how much they generate per day, per month and per year. Agents are able to do a bulk export of their accounts easily for their accountants.

This software is a lighter version of MY CARGO AGENT which is a commercial version of BTD packed with a full administrative stand-alone software. In this case a freight company can register their business customers and have a separate admin to manage and maintain all the features a business customer would need.

We will start by guiding you step by step on the features offered by BTD.

DASHBOARD:

The dashboard shows all the features offered in the software provided by BTD, but we recommend using the menus on the left side of the page for better control of the features. On the top right of the dashboard is the customer number, approval status, business account credits for freight agents who pay in advance or whom credit is due (credit is deducted on invoice amount), SMS credit for those that purchased SMS credits (cost is £0.07/SMS). Mark up prices for air and sea freight is the wholesale price offered to sub agents by the major forwarding agent. These features mentioned above are optional and do not affect the use of the software. They are just added features for those who may need them.

MY PROFILE:

Once registered, my profile lets you update your profile any time, please always make sure your phone number starts with the country code with no + sign or 00 before country code. The best practice is 4478 for the UK and 23480 for Nigeria. Please follow that format when registering your customers. After registration, a freight agent would be verified and approved by the BTD admin to be able to use any feature on BTD.

CUSTOMERS:

A customer's profile will need to be created in the system before an invoice or any other features in the system can be used for the customer. The customer section will show a list of all your customers which also gives you an opportunity to update their records. Once their profile is created, it remains in the system unless deleted by the freight agent. The total number of customers is also displayed on the invoice dashboard. Customer management is the major focus of the BTD software.

INVOICES:

Most of the work done on BTD was actually centred around invoices and invoice management for the freight forwarder or agent. We know that generating money and managing payments are very important for the freight agent so more attention to detail is shown in this area. There are two types of options when creating invoices, they do the same work with little differences. We will explain in detail below;

Cargo Invoices – Cargo invoices are invoices that are created by pulling from our already set retail prices based on the market rate, so if some or all of an agent's prices are the same as the market rate, then it is better to use this invoice option, the benefits of using this option is that it is able to do automatic calculations of freight charge. It shows you the sea and air freight prices for the dimensions entered and it is also able to calculate what mark up (profit) made on the transaction based on the wholesale price offered to you from the major forwarder and displays this for an agent to see.

This is really good for business growth planning. The cargo invoice also allows you to update tracking and payment details on the spot from the invoice page. An agent is also able to use the search function to search for a particular invoice. The only downside to using the cargo invoice option is the lack of flexibility with prices an agent would like to offer a customer. Since prices are pulled from the database, it is not adjustable but as many items can be added to the invoice to be factored into the cost using the add row button.

If an agent is awarded a business credit for an advance payment made or based on credit worthiness, upon conducting the transaction on the cargo the deduction will reflect in the invoice for the business credit based on the wholesale price offered to the agent. Assume an agent's offered price is £4/kg and the agent sends an invoice to a customer for £4.25/kg, the system will deduct the credit based on £4/kg.

Pic 11. Cargo invoice layout

Custom Invoices - Custom invoices are similar to cargo invoices but gives the agent flexibility to create an invoice from scratch, input any value, create payment reference, and add as many items as possible to be included on the invoice, describe the product in their own terms and make notes on the invoice before it is created. The custom invoice once created can also deduct the credits assigned but not based on mark-up price assigned. Custom invoice automatically calculates the invoice amount based on the price per unit imputed. Once saved, the invoice is created and becomes available in the custom invoice history table and provides the ability to update payment and tracking information. It sends an automatic email to the customer with a copy to the agent.

Custom invoices are popular with agents due to its flexibility, before a custom invoice is created, the customer receiving the invoice must have been in the system as an account holder, that means that it works the same way as the cargo invoice. Without creating a customer account the invoice cannot be created and issued to a customer. One downside to custom invoices is it does not calculate mark-up profit like the cargo invoice.

Note: Please read the settings description to understand how to customize your invoice to your company details.

PRICES:

These are quoted prices based on air and sea freight services to some destinations based on market rate prices. These prices are updated by the super admin who is the major freight forwarder and is only available for those using the cargo invoice option. It also serves as a guide for an agent using the custom or cargo invoice options if the intended invoice value matches the destinations and service type on the price list. The commercial version called MY CARGO AGENT features many world destinations if needed.

BTD does not give the sub agent the control of prices on the cargo invoice option but the commercial version MY CARGO AGENT comes with a full package including the Super admin backend.

SMS:

BTD has an SMS capacity that enables agents to send bulk or individual SMS to customers, SMS can only be sent to registered customers with defined correct mobile numbers. For the SMS to go through, the agent or business account holder has to have an SMS credit on their account which can be purchased by contacting the admin. The rate is at £0.07/SMS sent (subject to market rate changes). The customer needs to be registered with the right mobile number format and country code, for example 4478912345- for UK, 2348055- for Nigeria, 324524- for Belgium (country code without the + sign or 00 code) is the recommended format. Agents can always update it to the correct format by editing the customer's profile.

Any seasoned agent knows what sending a quick SMS full of information or a payment reminder would bring to a business.

GO TO COURIER BOOKING PAGE:

Agents do not need to use this courier option, but we have integrated our local and international courier system to BTD and MY CARGO AGENT. This section simply logs an agent into the courier booking site automatically and enables the agent to book local couriers in the UK for collection or delivery of their customers' goods within UK and international destinations.

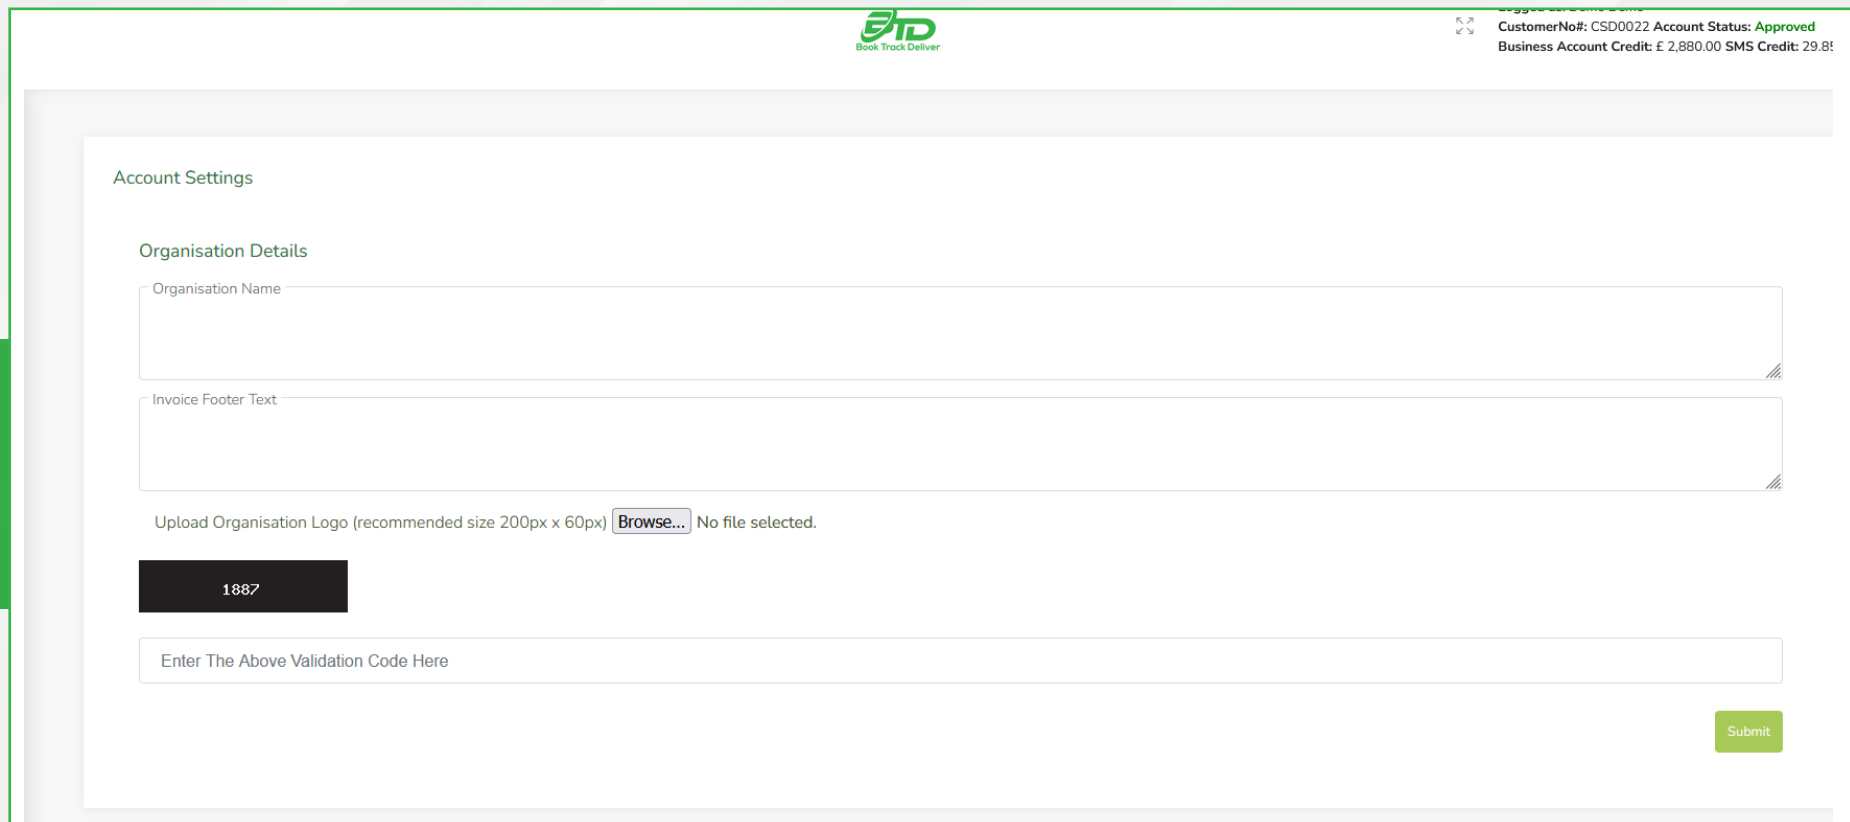

This courier website is simple and provides a price comparison for local and international courier delivery companies like DHL, DPD, TNT, UPS and many more. Just use the new order button, enter your package details, select your preferred courier and prices they offer, checkout and print your labels for your postage or send labels to your customer to affix to the package.

Pic 30. Courier booking page automatically logs you in with the same details from BTD

SETTINGS:

The settings section is very important in the branding of your business in BTD. The aim of BTD is to give freight agents as much flexibility as possible in handling their admin area. Uploading your logo, writing a good footer text (texts you want to show on your invoice in the bottom area) and writing your organization's name (business name) will completely replace all presence of BTD on the invoice with yours. Please stick to the recommended logo size of 200px X 60px to be able to fit your logo on the invoice. After setting up, we recommend sending an invoice to yourself to check if everything appears how you'd like it to.

The screenshot shows the 'Account Settings' page in the BTD (Book Track Deliver) system. At the top, there is a header bar with the BTD logo on the left and user information on the right: 'CustomerNo#: CSD0022 Account Status: Approved' and 'Business Account Credit: £ 2,880.00 SMS Credit: 29.8!'. The main content area is titled 'Account Settings' and contains a section for 'Organisation Details'. This section includes three input fields: 'Organisation Name', 'Invoice Footer Text', and 'Upload Organisation Logo (recommended size 200px x 60px)'. The logo upload field has a 'Browse...' button and the text 'No file selected.'. Below these fields is a black box displaying the number '1887'. At the bottom of the form is a text input field labeled 'Enter The Above Validation Code Here' and a green 'Submit' button.
